About the flag

The Cambodian flag features a blue stripe on the top and bottom, and a red stripe which is double the width in the middle. A white image of Angkor Wat features in the middle of the red stripe.

The Cambodian flag is the only national flag in the world which incorporates an actual building in its design.

Red and blue are the traditional colours of Cambodia. The colour blue represents the King of Cambodia and the colour red represents the people of Cambodia. Angkor Wat represents Theravada Buddhism, which is the religion of the majority of Cambodia's population.
